

Accreditation Canada self-assessment: managing medications

Northern Health is using Accreditation Canada's Qmentum program to guide our quality improvement efforts. This involves assessing and improving the services we provide based on Accreditation Canada's standards. The organization self-assessment for managing medications is an online survey that asks you to rate how you think Northern Health's services meet Accreditation Canada's requirements. The results help us identify areas of improvement.

Your responses are completely anonymous. They are sent directly to Accreditation Canada and NH receives a summary of the results.

Choosing Wisely Canada Website

The Choosing Wisely Canada website is a campaign to help you and your patients engage in conversations about unnecessary tests, treatments and procedures. Canadian national speciality societies participating in the campaign, representing a broad spectrum of clinicians, develop lists of "Five Things Clinicians and Patients should Question." The lists are to spur conversation about what is appropriate and necessary treatment.

Patient Medical Home

Work is underway throughout BC with the Ministry of Health and Doctors of BC on the patient medical home model. To help bring awareness to the work and to provide clear and consistent information to you, the Doctors of BC have developed centralized resources, outlined below:

- PMH key information: contains clear information about the patient medical home model, including its value to patients and family doctors and its impact on how doctors deliver care.
- BC Medical journal article: highlights the PMH work in BC that is creating a clear path to care and outlines how this proven model is being used in Alberta and Ontario.
- Postcards: illustrates how the collaborative efforts of doctors and divisions laid the foundation for the PMH through local initiatives, a GP for me, divisions of family practice, and practice support program. They can also send pre-printed postcards, just let them know how many.

The GPSC website is continually updated with new information and resources to support doctors and divisions of family practices with their patient medical home work. Information includes frequently asked questions and communications resources such as an overview presentation, powerpoint slides, and posters.
